

To the most high and mighty Prince 7 AMES, by the grace of God, King of Great Britain, France and Iriland, Defender of the Faith, 106.

The Translatours of the Bible with Grace, Mercy and Peace, through Jesus Christ our Lord.

Reat and manifold were the bleffings (molt dread Sovereign) Reat and manifold were the plennings there years and which Almighty God the Father. Of all metries, bettowed upon us the people of England, when fifth he lene your Majetties Royal person to rule and reign over us. For whereas, it was the expectation of inany, who wished not well unto our Sion, that upon the service of that, bright Octodental Star Queen Elizabeth of the Paper memory. Once thick and calabable clouds of darkness most happy memory, some thick and palpable clouds of would to have over hadowed this land, that men thould have been in doubt which way they were to walk, and that it thould hardly be known who was to direct the unfettled State; the appearance of of your Majefty, as of the Sun in his strength, instantly dispelled those supposed and surmised milts, and gave unto all that were well affected, exceeding caufe of comfort, especially when we beheld the Government established in your Highness and your hot et al Seed, by an undoubted title, and this also accompanied with peace and tranquility at home and abroad

But amongit all our joys, there was no one that more filled our hearts, then the bleffed continuance of the preaching of Gods facred Word amongit us; which is that inelt mable treature, which ex-celleth all the riches of the earth, because the fruit thereof extendeth it felf, not only to the time frent in this transitory world, bur directeth and difroleth men unto that eternal happiness which is

Then, not to finise this to fall to the ground, but rather to take it up, and to continue it in that state, wherein the tamous predeceis or of your Highnes sid die lave it: Nay to go forward with the confidence and resolution of a man in maintaining the truth of Christ, and propagating it far and near; is that which hath lobourd and firmly knit the hearts of all your. Majeline loval and propagating it far and near; is that which hath lobourd and firmly knit the hearts of all your. Majeline loval and people unto you, that dour very name is precious among them, their eye doth behold you, with comfort, and they bles you is their hearts, as that landtified person, who under God, is the inmediate author of their true happiness. And this their contentment doth not diminish or decay, but every day increases and retained the house of God, doth not lack or go backward, but more and more kindled, manifelling it elfi abroad in the ruthe parts of Christendon, by writing in defence of the truth which all god in the four states of the state of Then, not to fuffer this to fall to the ground, but rather to take

There are infinite arruments of this eight Christian and religious affection in your Majelty: but none is more forcible to declare it to others, then the vehement and perpetuated define of the accom-plifning and publishing of this Works, which now with all humility we prefent unto your Maiefty. For when your Highness had once out of deep ludgment apprehended how convenient it was. That out of the original facred tongues, together with comparing of the labours, both in our own and other foreign languages, of hisr worthy men who went before us, there should be one more ess worth hien who went beine us, there thould be one more exert translation of the holy Scriptures into the English Interes; John Maielty did never defift to urge and to excite those to whom was commended, that the work might be to fitned, and that the beinels might be expedited in so decent a manner, as a finance such importance might fulfill require.

And now at last, by the mercy of God, and the continuance our labours, it being brought unto such a conclusion, as it are have great hore that the Church of England shall rear good fruit thereby, we hold it our duty to offer it to your Maielty, not sale as to our King and Sovereign, but as to the principal movet author of the work: Humbly craving of your most facred Majesty, that since things of this quality have ever been subject to the contract of the many interest of ill-meaning and discontented persons, it may receive approbation and parronage from so learned and judicious a Prince at your Highness is, whose allowance and acceptance of our labours, that more honour and encourage us, then all the calumniations and hard interpretations of other men shall dismay us. So that if on the one side we shall be traduced by Popish persons at home or abroad, who therefore will malign us, because we are poor instruents to make Gods holy truth to be yet more and more known unto the people, whom they defire still to keep in ignorance and darkness: or if on the other sides, we shall be maligned by self-conceited brethren, who run their own ways, and so liking unto nothing, but what is framed by themselves, and hammered on their anvits we may reit secure, supported within by the truth and inconcy of a good conscience, having walked the ways of simplicity and integrity, as before the Lord; and sustained without, by the powerful protection of your Majessies grace and favours, which will ever give rountenance to honest and Christian endeavours, against bitter centures, and uncharitable imputations.

The Lord of heaven and earth beles your Majestie with many, and ne Lord of heaven and earth bleis your Majetry with many and happy days, that as his heavenly hand hath enriched your Highnels with many lingular and extraordinary graces; lo you may be the wonder of the world in this latter age, for happinels and true felicity, so the honour of that great God, and the good of his Church, through Jelus Chriff our Lord and only aged man, even fourfcore years old, and he had provided the king of futtenance while he lay at Mahanaira: for he was a very great man.

33 And the king faid unto Barzillai, Come thou over with me, and I will feed thee with me in Terufalem.

34 And Barzillai faid unto the king, How long have I to live, that I should go up with the king unto Jerusalem?

35 I am this day four score years old: and can I discern between good and evil? can thy fervant tafte what I eat or what I drink? can I hear any more the voice of finging men and finging women? wherefore then should thy fervant be yet a burden unto my lord the king!

36 The fervant will go a little way over Jordan with the king: and why should the king recomwhich and had neither dreiled penio it me with fuch a rewar! ?
